

Contents

Foreword (Jack Dangermond)	vii
Foreword (Marek Kalbarczyk)	ix

Part I: Introduction 1

Personal story Living without sight (Ellen Zieleman)	3
Chapter 1 From visual to tactile: Societal attitudes and accessible information (Vincent van Altena)	5

Part II: Maps and perception 21

Personal story Defying darkness (Ran Nitka)	23
Chapter 2 The relevance of maps in understanding our world (Georg Gartner)	25
Chapter 3 Understanding through touch (Astrid M. L. Kappers)	41
Case study The development of tactile mapping in Norway (Carl William Lund and Henrik Gulliksen Schüller)	59
Case study Dreams become a goal (Ashna Abdulrahman Kareem Zada)	63

Part III: Designing tactile maps 67

Personal story A journey beyond knowledge (Petr Novák)	69
Chapter 4 Map symbol design: Visual and haptic variables (Amy L. Griffin)	73
Chapter 5 Map design and cognition (Jakub Wabiński and Simon Ungar)	87
Chapter 6 Generalization for tactile maps (Guillaume Touya)	105

Case study	Tactile maps of historic gardens (Jakub Wabiński)	117
Case study	Making the invisible visible (Shirly Goldner)	121

Part IV: Users and education	127
-------------------------------------	------------

Personal story	Completely lost without maps (Leydiane Cristina Santana)	129
Chapter 7	User-centered and inclusive cartographic design (Robert Roth, Merve Keskin, and Zdeněk Stachoň)	131
Chapter 8	Learning geography when you're blind (Carla Cristina Reinaldo Gimenes de Sena and Waldirene Ribeiro do Carmo)	155
Chapter 9	Training in orientation and mobility (Petr Červenka)	171
Case study	A collaborative approach to tactile mapping in the Netherlands (Jolijn Jansen)	189
Case study	Tactile world thematic map (Young-Hoon Kim)	195

Part V: Reliable output	201
--------------------------------	------------

Personal story	We drop things at the same rate (Dorothy Atieno Lensa)	203
Chapter 10	Accessible media (Radek Barvíř, Alena Vondráková, and Jan Brus)	205
Chapter 11	Methodical reflections (Albina Mościcka)	225
Case study	3D printed cartography in East Africa (Samuel Foulkes and Quentin Roa)	243
Case study	Optimized route planning for blind pedestrians (Sagi Dalyot and Achituv Cohen)	247
Personal story	Maps aren't just a fun gimmick (Parham Doustdar)	251
Conclusion	(Vincent van Altena and Jakub Wabiński)	253
Personal story	I finally belong (Ellen Zieleman)	259
Acknowledgments		261