

CONTENTS

FOREWORD XI

PREFACE XVII

TEMENOUJKA BANDROVA 2

Building on her love of drawing and math

ASHALI BHANDARI 12

Planning for a more resilient India

CECILLE BLAKE 20

Growing GIS from the ground up in Jamaica

JANEY CAMP 30

Improving communities inside and out

NICOLE D. FRANKLIN 38

Furthering equity and social justice

SOPHIA MAGDALENA GARCIA PENA 48

Ensuring that every person counts

VALRIE GRANT 60

A vision for spreading the joys of geotechnology

ELIZABETH GROFF 68

Using GIS to expand criminal justice policy

TANYA HARRISON 78

Bringing Mars to the masses

GRANIA KELLY 86

Using art and science to create landscape stories

AMRITA LAL 96

Powering drones over the South Pacific

KELSEY LEONARD 102

Using tribal wisdom to care for water resources

MEGAN McCABE 112

Leading the search for a lost airliner

ANNE HALE MIGLARESE 120

Bringing technology to the developing world

CATHERINE LILIAN NAKALEMBE 126

Empowering the people close to the land

ANITA PALMER 136

Advocating for students and the world

OLIVIA POWELL 144

Championing GIS in the police service

RHIANNAN PRICE 154

Fostering sustainable development

BARBARA J. RYAN 162

Promoting open data for everyone

DIANA SINTON 170

Connecting spatial thinkers to GIS

HOÀNG CHI SMITH 178

Helping refugees tell their stories

AMY STEIGER 188

Piloting a career in the office and in the field

ELEANOR STOKES 194

Going where the big questions lead her

HANNAH TREW 200

Speaking out loud and clear in a unifying voice

INGRID H. J. VANDEN BERGHE 208

Belgium's "geo-broker" of GIS data

VERÓNICA VÉLEZ 218

Fighting for social and racial justice in education

GERMAN WHITLEY 228

Choosing her own GIS adventures

CYHANA LENA WILLIAMS 236

Bringing geo-business intelligence to Africa

SUSAN WOLFINBARGER 242

Shaping our understanding of global conflict

RAE WYNN-GRANT 248

Saving the bears and the wildlife

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS 254