

Tampa Mapped its Most Dangerous Roads to Reduce Deadly Incidents

City planners prioritized road improvements to improve safety equity for the most vulnerable people, including pedestrians and cyclists, resulting in less traffic-related deaths.

Read More →

Wisconsin DOT Saves over $200,000 a Year

Wisconsin Department of Transportation (DOT) improves its efficiency and saves hundreds of thousands of dollars by moving imagery services to a cloud-based GIS.

Read the Article →

More Content You'll Love

Equitably Prioritizing Multimodal Transportation Efforts

See how Richmond, Virginia, focuses on equity to develop its multimodal transportation plan.

Watch the Video →

Enhancing Equity across Transportation Systems

In the latest in a blog series highlighting equity across industries, learn how transportation organizations can incorporate equity into their work.

Read the Article →

Quote of the Month

"It started with a question: Where are the inequities in transportation? We immediately realized that GIS could help identify, map, and analyze communities experiencing transportation disadvantage."

Amy Nelson, U.S. Department of Transportation

Read the Blog →

Esri Is Hiring

Industry Solutions Manager - Transportation, Roads Highways

Develop and oversee the execution of global go-to-market strategies to drive growth in new and existing markets in the transportation domain, and specifically the discipline of roads and highways.

Apply Now →

Copyright © 2024 Esri. All rights reserved.
Esri, 380 New York Street, Redlands, CA 92373, USA.

